

(a) Mapping message image to latent space

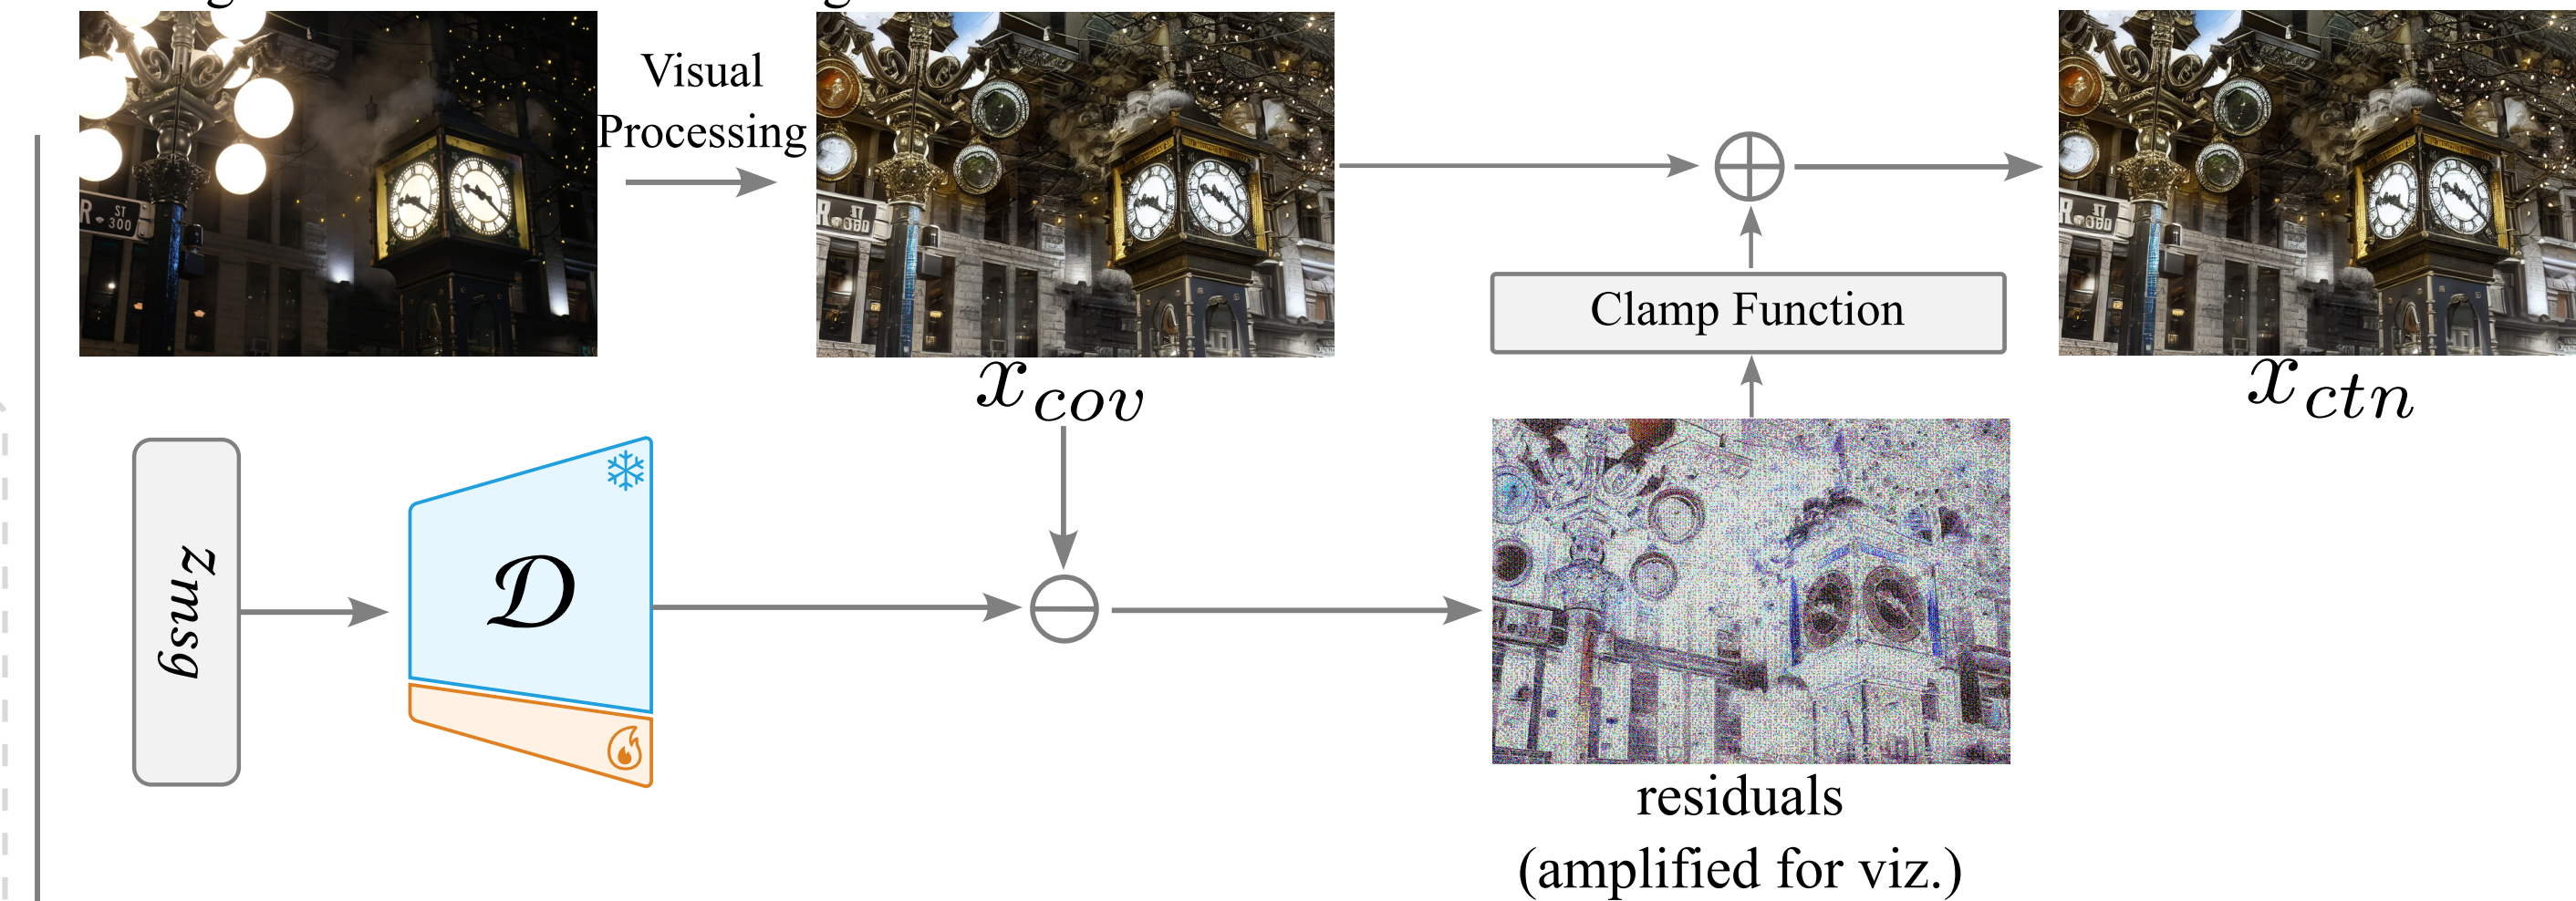

(b) Mapping message latent to image space

(c) Learning to reconstruct the message latent through the container image.

(d) Hiding the latent of message image into residuals, then combining the residuals with the cover image to generate the container image.

(e) Decoding the latent of message image and reconstruct message image.

